

OSHA 10 and OSHA 30 Outreach Training through UL

Employees need more than their OSHA Cards.

For nearly a decade, hundreds of employers and thousands of employees have looked to UL EHS Sustainability as the trusted source for OSHA-authorized outreach training. Many organizations choose OSHA outreach training as their baseline training standard because of its outstanding quality and standardization. OSHA outreach training provides employers with quality control for employees' health and safety on the job. Online training providers are required to meet OSHA's stringent quality control measures, which limits the number of authorized providers. UL EHS Sustainability works tirelessly to meet these measures and continue its role as an authorized OSHA provider.

OSHA courses cover important information for both managers and front-line employees. Our training includes the OSHA 10-Hour Outreach Training program for General Industry and OSHA 10- and 30-Hour Outreach Training programs for the Construction Industry.

OSHA 10 General Industry:

OSHA 10 General Industry training course includes a cross section of essential topics from OSHA Standards for General Industry, 29 CFR 1910. All trainees have 24/7 access to the course and live customer service by phone or email.

OSHA 10 and OSHA 30 Construction Industry:

OSHA 10 and OSHA 30 Construction Industry training courses include a cross section of essential topics from OSHA Standards for Construction, 29 CFR 1926. All trainees have 24/7 access to the courses and live customer service by phone or email.

Workplace Health & Safety is UL's Goal:

UL EHS Sustainability works to help you keep employees safe, healthy and on the job. In addition to OSHA 10 and OSHA 30 courses in English, UL offers more than 500 other courses, in six translated languages, to help meet your workplace's unique safety challenges. Our extensive library of courses provides quality training employers can trust. Let UL help achieve your workplace health and safety initiatives.
